On 9th March 2020, as part of the Alumini Lecture Series, the department of IT conducted a guest lecture on 'Corporate Grooming'. The lecture was delivered by one of our Alumini, Mr. Pintu Champ Mahato from the batch 2009-2013. It was held in the R&D Lab, Dr. M. G. R. Educational & Research Institute, between 10:00 a.m to 12:00 p.m. The participants were the students of 2nd and 3rd year IT department along with their respective faculties.

Mr. Pintu being an alumini of this institution was very familiar with the University and the students attitude. He stressed on the importance of being well dressed up as a student, improving communication skills and not getting distracted by unwanted habits. He focussed on the importance of preparing a CV during college days and working constantly to improve its quality. He even gave his e-mail id and asked the students to reach out to him any time.

Throughout the entire session, Mr Pintu was moving around the hall and constantly interacting with the students. He explained everything in simple terms and made sure each and everyone could understand. He conducted a few activities involving the students. The activities were not only informative but also fun filled. Not a single person in the crowd was inattentive or even bored.
